

OFF-THE-WALL HISTORY

Durban born artist Shaun Oakley, AKA "Damn Vandal", working on a mural to be unveiled this weekend. The mural is a collaboration between Oakley and the Florida Road Urban Improvement Precinct. The images depicted aim to show the transformation of Florida Road from a sandy path used by elephants in the 1800s on their way to their daily water source in the Greyville marshlands, to the infrastructure that exists today. "The mural is basically to show the history of Florida Road, and to inspire peace," says Oakley. He has been creating murals for 14 years and has worked in various cities.
